HISTORY.

THIS church was organized on the evening of May 4, 1845, in the dwelling-house occupied by its first pastor, on Mount Pleasant Street, Somerville.

The church began its existence with fourteen members, who had been dismissed with commendation from other churches. As its public meetings were at first held in Charlestown, the upper part of which city formed the larger portion of its field of labor, it was for a time known as the Neck Village Baptist Church. In September of the following year, the name was changed for that of the Charlestown and Somerville Baptist Church; and in August, 1853, it was again changed to that by which it is now known.

The church had its origin, as we trust, by the will of God through the prayers of his saints.

Previous to 1845, the eastern part of Somerville had but few inhabitants, and there was no Christian church in the town. The upper part of Charlestown was also without any organized body of believers, or any public building devoted to the worship of God. Many of the people were openly irreligious. But a dispensation of grace toward this place began in the sending of a few Christian women,* who, looking upon the ungodliness and moral destitution which abounded, went to God with a plea for help, which they continued to present in the patience of hope. The way opened in the establishment of meetings for the study of the Bible, and for prayer and preaching, held in a hall which was designed and frequently used for another and opposite service.

The growth of the church in membership at the first was not rapid. At the end of eight years, and in its present location, there was a change in the outward aspects of the field ; and the lines have since fallen to us in the midst of an active, growing community, which in morals, and in respect for the observances of religion, compares favorably with neighboring communities. Two years later a number of brethren, members of Orthodox Congregational churches, who had worshipped with us, united to form a church of their own order.

The church has made use of the ordinary measures now common in our denomination, — holding regular meetings for preaching and teaching and for prayer on the sabbath, and on a part of the evenings of the week.

For several years past, extra meetings have been held during a considerable portion of the winter months,

* Mrs. Sarah Magoun and Mrs. Lucinda Eliott, now deceased, are remembered as among the earliest friends of the cause.

which have been blessed to the edification of the church, and the conversion of many souls.

From 1853 to 1863, there were several seasons of spiritual quickening, in which a few persons were converted.

In the winter of 1864–65, the church was blessed with a work of grace far exceeding in power and extent any previous work. The interest extended to other churches, and was felt throughout the entire community. Since that time, the church has been favored with several similar seasons; but this, as being the first general awakening in the history of the town, exerted a formative influence upon the church, and left an impress upon the community, worthy of record in connection with the more immediate results. Meetings were held nearly every evening for three months; and more than sixty persons were baptized into the fellowship of the church, its membership being nearly doubled.

Four years later came another refreshing from the presence of the Lord, adding more than forty to the church by baptism; and from that time to the present there has been a good degree of interest each year. The winter of 1870–71 was one of memorable interest in the history of the church, seventy-six persons professing their faith in Christ. And, following immediately upon this most gracious visitation, the present year has witnessed a very similar work, with results nearly as great; more than sixty persons having been converted.

The sabbath school, which began with eleven members, has been uniformly prospered, and now numbers five hundred teachers and scholars.

The first meeting-house occupied by the church was erected at the corner of Main and Haverhill Streets, Charlestown, at an expense, including the land, of $6,124.98. It was dedicated June 25, 1845. In the summer of 1853 it was removed a short distance, and located on Perkins Street, Somerville. The expenses incurred by this removal, together with an enlargement of the house which was then made, were about $4,000. In 1864 the house was remodelled and repaired, the amount expended being about the same as the last mentioned. On Monday, Jan. 8, 1866, the house was destroyed by fire. For ten months following, the church worshipped with the Franklin-street Congregationalist church, accepting their invitation to occupy their house for half the usual services of the sabbath.* June 26, 1867, a new house of worship was dedicated, previous to which accustomed services had been held for a number of months in the vestry. The main audience-room was arranged to accommodate 600 persons. The building, with its furniture, cost $25,000.

At the date of the present writing, plans have been arranged for an enlargement of the church edifice, which, by the blessing of God, will be completed in the early autumn, and by which somewhat more than a thousand sittings will be secured.

The contributions made by the church to various benevolent causes, and for the maintenance of the means of grace within its own limits, have steadily increased; and for several years all moneys raised have been by voluntary offerings, without resort to the various questionable means now so common among the churches.

* A few months later, for more than a year, these brethren occupied in part our house, their own having been burned.

The church has had four pastors. William Stow, who had for some time previous, and while a student at Newton, preached to the little company from which the church was formed, was ordained as pastor June 25, 1845; on the same day the first meeting-house was dedicated, and the church publicly recognized by its sister churches.

Bro. Stow's pastorate was continued until 1850, a period of five years and two months. Some years later he joined the Episcopalian denomination. C. H. Topliff was ordained as pastor of the church, Sept. 30, 1850. His relation was continued one year and seven months. N. M. Williams succeeded Bro. Topliff, taking the oversight of the church August, 1852. The change in the location of the house of worship was made in his term of service, which service was continued seven years and nine months. The present pastor was ordained Sept. 17, 1861.

There have been six deacons. Benjamin Randall, one of the original members, was elected to this office at the time the church was formed, and continued to serve until his death, which occurred October, 1869. He lived to see the church grow from a feeble beginning to goodly proportions, and died in the faith.

Charles Bowers united by letter in 1852, and was soon after chosen to this office, which he held until 1864, when he removed to Lexington, where, a few months later, he died. He was a man beloved for his gentle, childlike spirit. Cyrus Hill and Samuel Cutler were chosen as deacons June 28, 1864. Julius L. D. Sullivan and Hiram N. Stearns were chosen Nov. 2, 1870.

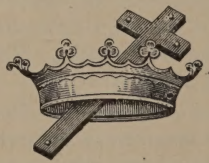
Looking back over these years, we have occasion to thank God that he has preserved to the church a more than common degree of harmony, both in the relation which its servants have sustained to it, and amongst its members, for many mercies which have been bestowed, and for the degree of faith and hope which we have, that He who hath begun a good work in us will perform it unto the day of Jesus Christ.



ARTICLES OF FAITH.

I. We believe that the Bible, written by men divinely inspired, is the standard by which all doctrines, precepts, and rites, professing to have come from God, are to be judged.

2 Tim. iii. 16, 17; 2 Pet. i. 21; John v. 39.

II. We believe in the existence of the Father, of the Word, and of the Holy Spirit, the same in essence, equal in attribute, having each his own personality, yet being but one living and true God.

John i. 1; Col. i. 15, 16, 17; John xvii. 5; Matt. xxviii. 19.

III. We believe, that in consequence of the fall of Adam, who was created holy, all men are at birth morally depraved; and, from the beginning of accountability, are guilty of continual voluntary transgression, thereby adding fearful strength to their natural depravity, confirming the certainty that without the help of God they can never become holy, and exposing themselves to eternal death.

Gen. i. 27; iii. 6–13; Rom. v. 12; iii. 19, 20; Gen. iii. 3; Rom. vi. 23.

IV. We believe that God, in his infinite love and wisdom, purposed from eternity that some of our race should be saved.

Eph. i. 4, 5, 11; Rom. viii. 29, 30; 1 Pet. v. 10.

V. We believe that the only meritorious ground on which men can be treated as righteous is that of the righteousness of the Lord Jesus Christ, consisting of Christ's obedience to the law, and death on the cross.

Isa. liii. 4–6; Rom. v. 6–21; Rom. iii. 21–26; 1 John i. 7; ii. 2.

VI. We believe that the righteousness of Christ is imputed to those, and only to those, who receive it by faith, and that only such give evidence of faith as are becoming free from personal sin.

Rom. iv. 24, 25; Mark xvi. 16; James ii. 22, 26.

VII. We believe that all who are becoming free from personal sin were first regenerated by the Holy Spirit.

John iii. 3, 5, 7, 8; 1 John iv. 7; v. 1; Titus iii. 5.

VIII. We believe that all who have been regenerated will be kept from finally perishing, and will be received to everlasting blessedness.

John vi. 37; x. 28, 29; Phil. i. 6.

IX. We believe that a Christian church, organized according to the apostolic model, is composed of baptized believers, maintaining the ordinances, doctrines, and precepts of Christianity; and that wherever located, in city or village, it has the right to manage its own affairs, independently of every man and of every body of men on earth.

Acts ii. 41, 42; Matt. xviii. 17, 18.

X. We hold that baptism is required of believers, of none but believers; and that nothing is Christian baptism but immersion.

Mark xvi. 16; Matt. xxviii. 19; Acts ii. 41; viii. 12, 37, 38; Matt. iii. 16; Col. ii. 12; Rom. vi. 4.

XI. We hold that the Lord's Supper was not intended for all believers, but only for those believers that have been baptized.

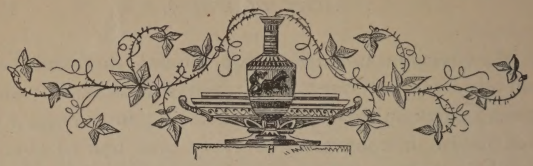
Matt. xxviii. 19, 20; Acts ii. 41, 42.

XII. We hold that both believers and unbelievers will be raised from the dead.

John v. 28, 29; 1 Cor. xv. 12, 13, 16, 42, 44, 51, 52.

XIII. We believe that all who shall have persisted in sin till the close of life will be sentenced to everlasting punishment.

Mark xvi. 16; Matt. xxv. 46.



COVENANT.

KNOWING that the blessed doctrines of Christianity are worthless ecxept as the means of spiritual life, we do hereby covenant, in the presence of the Father, of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, not only to maintain them in word, but to illustrate them in our life.

We covenant to love this church of the Lord Jesus Christ as our spiritual home ; to yield to its decisions in whatever is not contradictory to the Word of God, and to co-operate in efforts to maintain those decisions ; to attend its meetings of sabbath worship and of social prayer ; to unite with one another in remembering our Lord at the Sacrament of the Supper ; and to contribute, according to our ability, toward the maintenance of a faithful ministry among us, and toward the spread of the gospel throughout the world.

We covenant to abstain from such forms of amusement as may be inconsistent with the attainment of eminent spirituality. We covenant to be honest and honorable in our business.

We covenant to receive from one another, in love, whatever reproof our faults may require, to cherish toward one another charity for defects common to human nature, and not to conceal sins, which, if known, should subject us to the discipline which Christ enjoins upon his churches.

We covenant to sympathize with one another in trial, to rejoice with one another in prosperity, and to co-operate in all scriptural efforts to win our fellow-men to Christ.

And now, gracious Saviour, we humbly beseech thee to pity our weakness ; and to grant us, so long as we may live upon the earth, strength to fulfil the Covenant we have made, and to thee we will ascribe the glory forever. Amen.

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

One volume allowed at a time, and obtained only by card; to be kept 14 days (or seven days in the case of fiction and juvenile books published within one year) without fine; not to be renewed; to be reclaimed by messenger after 21 days, who will collect 20 cents besides fine of 2 cents a day, including Sundays and holidays; not to be lent out of the borrower's household, and not to be transferred; to be returned at this Hall.

Borrowers finding this book mutilated or unwarrantably defaced, are expected to report it; and also any undue delay in the delivery of books.

 No claim can be established because of the failure of any notice, to or from the Library, through the mail.

The record below must not be made or altered by borrower.
